About This Game

Across the Line is an immersive virtual reality experience that combines 360° video and computer generated imaging (CGI) to put viewers in the shoes of a patient entering a health center for a safe and legal abortion. Using real audio gathered at protests, scripted scenes, and documentary footage, the film is a powerful hybrid documentary-fiction depiction of the gauntlet that many abortion providers, health center staff, and patients must walk on a typical day in America.

The experience consists of three scenes. We begin inside the health center, finding ourselves in an exam room with a young woman and a compassionate doctor. The scene fades as we travel back in time to follow the patient and her friend as they drive up to a health center lined with protesters holding graphic signs and shouting.

The final scene uses computer-generated graphics. The viewer becomes the patient and must navigate a group of intimidating protesters shouting highly offensive remarks aimed at shaming and stigmatizing the patient. The audio montage, captured from protesters across the country, anchors the viewers experience in the reality of what thousands of people across the country face during anti-abortion protests outside of health centers.

Farming Simulator 2017 but the tractor is a Bangbus. Very simple game. Seems to consist of mostly score attack, you control an orb that can move around a square playing field, you can influence the colored dots that rotate around your orb but the control is imprecise by design. Frankly I do not care for it but it could be a short diversion for the right person who wants a chill out zen type game to play in short bursts.. This is a fun game to play and try to get a good high score. Other than a few nit-picky parts that bug me (power-up mode can end near a trap, some obstacles obstruct view of the tile behind them), I had my fair share of fun with this one. I downloaded it, completed the achievements within an hour, and that's it for me.

As worth as a chocolate bar.. Okay...I like the content and the environment. It was realistic and easy to maneuver. I do not like the fact that there is no in-game wiki that clearly explains simple things like how to hit with a knife, how to get fibers, and many other basic maneuvers to gather resources. I searched google for help...none there either.

The main menu tutorial is of very little help since it lacks the new player approach and considers a new player to already have learned how to do simple tasks such as stated...hit, gather fibers..etc.

Game seems to stick a lot...and is slow to respond to key commands too. Also when I want to log off the game makes me go to my task manager to quit as the quit control does not work when tabbed. When I ask new player questions in the discussion arena it takes a long time to get any responses but they do eventually respond.

Oh well....maybe it will get better...not certain of that though. I think the developers are trying to add too much stuff too soon and have not gotten what they already created working well so far.

All in all I would give the game a 5 out of 10 rating, yet it has future potential....I hope.

I would not recommend this game to new players like myself as it is a bit frustrating and the learning curve is off the charts with little help of any kind.

Auld. Good solitaire game. Fair amount of levels. Some purchasable abilities. 9/10. She's so fluffy I'm gonna die!. Installed, ran, froze. Uninstalled and re-installed did the same again. DO NOT BUY. No support and a dud product.. I'm still playing this game and for now the game it's really fun, the controls aren't very difficult and the game is very challenging, at least the first Act, I still have others to play.

If you'd like to also check my gameplay!

Have fun! =D. A fun little old-school point-and-click adventure game.. Let me just start by saying Avernum is not for everyone. For those who are only interested in fast pace action, then this is not for you.

But for those who like a game that is remarkably refined, has a driving story, and a vast open world to explore, this is the game for you. Do not automatically be driven off by the rudimentary, this is a very fun game that will have you glued to your seat!

Sky tower is a wonderful relaxing experience, much more than the other cinema apps, its very cosy and simple. i would highly recommend it :). I thought I could jump into this without the tutorial..silly me..anyways I decided to go through the tutorial (Which I do recommend) which is a good tutorial btw. Then I played the game. The stages are interesting. Each one has different goals to achieve which keeps it interesting. It is no means like Tetris. It may look like Tetris, Smell Like Tetris, Fall like Tetris but it's not. You basically have to keep that game out of your mind if you want to be successful at playing this game. I do however like it. It's a bit challenging but I love a challenge so bring it on! :). Every game I end up repeating motions: I can barely pay attention to the theme (it's all in tiny text boxes so disconnected from the game loop that even if I try to force myself to read it, I still end up skipping it after minutes), and every game ends with me feeling baffled, confused, and not understanding anything of what just happened or why should I even care.

I can't put my finger where this game lost me: it's likely a lack of indirect tutorialization and implied game goals, and over reliance on "tell, don't show" as narrative incentive.

There's clearly a state where this game gets engaging and interesting, I can see youtube videos that imply this state exists, but there is no clear pathway to reach that state from the dull starting point where I am. And after 4 hours of fiddling in utter boredom I just gave up.. I love this game. There are the obvious reasons like the artstyle, first person gameplay and exploration aspect. But what I especially like is the whimsical storyline and discovering items while completing tasks and quests. It's not a grind game, it's a mind game. It's a relaxing, beautiful journey of exploration with a language all it's own. I also like that while there are dangerous creatures there can be alternatives to killing. EONIA is like becoming engrossed in a good book and losing track of time. The crazy thing is EVERYTHING is created by just one person. Very impressive.. This VN is really good and i enjoyed almost everything about it. The characters are vibrant and are very enjoyable and cute. My only querrals with the game is some of the H-scenes are terribly long and drawn out when they dont need to so it makes you just wish for the scene to end as fast as it can. This isnt to cut away that the scenes are bad because they arent, just wish some were shorter. The plot for the routes is well written and got me invested into some of the characters. Witht he twist of magic in the game it makes some of the storys corny and takes some of the seriousness out but they are amzing otherwise. The MC is your very typical average guy who is nice to everyone and comes into contact with a event and meets tons of girls because of it. But the main thing that makes me like him a lot in the game is the fact that his personality changes when going throuhg the different routes. I recommend this game 100% if you enjoy playing VNs as the price is worth it and so is the play time.. I like it, it comes with a nice assortment of equipment. My one gripe is that the outfit and the tackle bag, and rod bag still take wear. I haven't had one long enough to know but that kind of sucks if you eventually lose the outfit because it wears and bags because they wear out? I feel like those should at least be forever since you paid for them Can you fix them, i know you can with rods etc. Anyway, i have enjoyed using the stuff in the pack.
